Custodial History

From 1950 through 1995 records of the Budapest People's Court and the Budapest Criminal Court were in the custody of the Hungarian Ministry of Internal Affairs, the state agency overseeing the country's law enforcement organizations, including its secret police. Following the dissolution of the communist system and its organizations, the records were transferred to a newly established archives (called Történelmi Hivatal - Office of History - , and later renamed as Állambiztonsági Szolgálatok Történelmi Levéltára - Historical Archives of State Security Agencies), and to the Budapest City Archives. The United States Holocaust Memorial Museum's International Archives Project received the microfilm in May 2005, and the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum's International Archival Programs Division transferred the collection to the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum Archives on May 9, 2005, and accretion to the collection in 2007.

Existence and Location of Originals: Állambiztonsági Szolgálatok Történelmi Levéltára (Historical Archives of State Security Agencies, Hungary)

Accruals: Reel 583-746 acquired in 2007.

Processing History: Processed by Aleksandra Borecka, December 2013.

Administrative History

Budapest People's Court (Budapesti Népbíróság) was the chronologically first (established in 1945) and politically most important court within the post Holocaust administration of justice in Hungary. This court tried the cases of individuals indicted for war crimes, e.g. the Prime Ministers, members of the cabinet, high ranking officers of the armed forces and law enforcement agencies, etc. The politically delicate cases, and later some of the "show trials" were also People's Court cases. After 1948 the regional People's Courts were gradually closed. Some of their records (e.g. the records of the Eger, Balassagyarmat, Szolnok People's Courts) were transferred to the Budapest People's Court, which was closed in 1949. The trials in progress were transferred to the Budapest Criminal Court (Budapesti Büntetőtörvényszék). The late 1949 and 1950 records are being microfilmed at the Budapest City Archives (Budapest Főváros Levéltára) in July 2007, their transfer to the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum Archives is expected in early 2008. The records contain data of 42,285 suspects or defendants

Scope and Content of Collection (Analysis in progress)

Contains records of the Budapest People's Court (Budapesti Népbíróság). The material includes documents from the pre-trial police investigations, as well as interrogation protocols, indictments, trial transcripts, witness testimonies, judgments, and post sentencing histories.
