Administrative history

The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (UNRRA) was an international relief agency, largely dominated by the United States but representing 44 nations. Founded in 1943, it became part of the United Nations in 1945, and it largely shut down operations in 1947. Its purpose was to "plan, coordinate, administer or arrange for the administration of measures for the relief of victims of war in any area under the control of any of the United Nations through the provision of food, fuel, clothing, shelter and other basic necessities, medical and other essential services". Its staff of civil servants included 12,000 people, with headquarters in New York. Funding came from many nations, and totaled $3.7 billion, of which the United States contributed $2.7 billion; Britain $625 million and Canada $139 million. The Administration of UNRRA at the peak of operations in mid-1946 included five types of offices and missions with a staff totaling nearly 25,000: The Headquarters Office in Washington, The European Regional Office (London), the Twenty-nine servicing offices and missions (2 area offices in Cairo and Sydney; 10 liaison offices and missions in Belgium, Denmark, France, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, Trieste; 12 procurement offices in Argentina, Brazil, Chile, later Peru, Cuba, India, Mexico, South Africa, Southern Rhodesia, Turkey, Uruguay, Venezuela; 6 offices for procurement of surplus military supplies in Caserta, later Rome, Honolulu, Manila, New Delhi, Paris, Shanghai), the sixteen missions to receiving countries (Albania, Austria, Byelorussia, China, Czechoslovakia, the Dodecanese Islands, Ethiopia, Finland, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Korea, the Philippines, Poland, Ukraine, Yugoslavia), and the Displaced Persons Operations in Germany.

UNRRA cooperated closely with dozens of volunteer charitable organizations, who sent hundreds of their own agencies to work alongside UNRRA. In operation only three years, the agency distributed about $4 billion worth of goods, food, medicine, tools, and farm implements at a time of severe global shortages and worldwide transportation difficulties. The recipient nations had been especially hard hit by starvation, dislocation, and political chaos. It played a major role in helping Displaced Persons return to their home countries in Europe in 1945-46. Its UN functions were transferred to several UN agencies, including the International Refugee Organization and the World Health Organization. As an American relief agency, it was largely replaced by the Marshall Plan, which began operations in 1948.

The Bureau of Administration was responsible for various functions relating to administrative services, management, planning, and coordination. It existed as a Bureau from 15 April 1946 to its abolition on 22 December 1947. Prior to its establishment, its component services had been parts of the Bureau of Finance and Administration (abolished April 1946), and after the abolition of the Bureau of Administration (December 1947) its responsibilities were carried on by its two major divisions - Personnel and Management, and Administrative Services which were made directly responsible to the Chief Executive Officer. The top officials in charge of administration were therefore: Deputy Director-General, Finance and Administration Chief, Bureau of Administration, Chief Executive Officer Administrator for Liquidation. When the Bureau of Administration was established in April 1946, it consisted of the Office of the Chief (including the functions of the former Division of Management and Budget), and four divisions, Personnel, Administrative Services, Procedural Coordination, and Administrative Planning. The latter two became staff units in the Office of the Chief at the end of 1946, and on 16 October 1947 they were added to the Division of Personnel, whose title was then changed to Division of Personnel and Management. The Division of Administrative Services was broken up and reconstituted at least once, but its component services, though grouped and titled in various ways, maintained an operating continuity until the time of UNRRA's liquidation. These services were responsible for communications (mail, cable, and messenger), records (central files), travel, purchase and supply, space and maintenance, reproduction and distribution, surplus disposal, and overseas administrative requirements.
