Administrative history

The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (UNRRA) was an international relief agency, largely dominated by the United States but representing 44 nations. Founded in 1943, it became part of the United Nations in 1945, and it largely shut down operations in 1947. Its purpose was to "plan, coordinate, administer or arrange for the administration of measures for the relief of victims of war in any area under the control of any of the United Nations through the provision of food, fuel, clothing, shelter and other basic necessities, medical and other essential services". Its staff of civil servants included 12,000 people, with headquarters in New York. Funding came from many nations, and totaled $3.7 billion, of which the United States contributed $2.7 billion; Britain $625 million and Canada $139 million. The Administration of UNRRA at the peak of operations in mid-1946 included five types of offices and missions with a staff totaling nearly 25,000: The Headquarters Office in Washington, The European Regional Office (London), the Twenty-nine servicing offices and missions (2 area offices in Cairo and Sydney; 10 liaison offices and missions in Belgium, Denmark, France, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, Trieste; 12 procurement offices in Argentina, Brazil, Chile, later Peru, Cuba, India, Mexico, South Africa, Southern Rhodesia, Turkey, Uruguay, Venezuela; 6 offices for procurement of surplus military supplies in Caserta, later Rome, Honolulu, Manila, New Delhi, Paris, Shanghai), the sixteen missions to receiving countries (Albania, Austria, Byelorussia, China, Czechoslovakia, the Dodecanese Islands, Ethiopia, Finland, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Korea, the Philippines, Poland, Ukraine, Yugoslavia), and the Displaced Persons Operations in Germany.

UNRRA cooperated closely with dozens of volunteer charitable organizations, who sent hundreds of their own agencies to work alongside UNRRA. In operation only three years, the agency distributed about $4 billion worth of goods, food, medicine, tools, and farm implements at a time of severe global shortages and worldwide transportation difficulties. The recipient nations had been especially hard hit by starvation, dislocation, and political chaos. It played a major role in helping Displaced Persons return to their home countries in Europe in 1945-46. Its UN functions were transferred to several UN agencies, including the International Refugee Organization and the World Health Organization. As an American relief agency, it was largely replaced by the Marshall Plan, which began operations in 1948.

Washington DC Headquarters: The executive authority of UNRRA was vested in the Director-General, who was appointed by the Council on the nomination by unanimous vote of the Central Committee. The first Director-General was Herbert H. Lehman, appointed on 1 January 1944. Succeeding him were Fiorello H. LaGuardia, 1 April 1946 - 31 December 1946, and Major-General Lowell P. Rooks, 1 January 1947 - 30 September 1948. Attached to this office and appointed by the Director-General were an Assistant to the Director-General and a Senior Deputy Director-General, who acted as principal adviser and the channel of authority from the Director-General to other units of the Administration. In the next level of authority were the Deputy Directors-General in charge of departments. These included Deputy Directors-General respectively for the Bureau of Areas, the Bureau of Supply, the Bureau of Finance and Administration, the Secretariat, for Regional Liaison, and for Liaison with American Republics. In May 1945 the Bureau of Areas and the Office of Regional Liaison were abolished.

On 1 January 1946, the post of Chief Executive Officer was established to coordinate the work of the Bureaus, Offices, and Divisions. The Office of the Director-General ended on 31 September 1948, and executive responsibility for remaining UNRRA functions was then assumed by Harry E. Howell, Administrator for Liquidation.

The duties and responsibilities of the Director-General included the following:

- To carry out with full power and responsibility all relief operations within the limits of available resources and the broad policies determined by the Council or its Central Committee; in conjunction with the military and other appropriate authorities of the United Nations to prepare plans for the emergency relief of civilian population of any area occupied by the United Nations armed forces, arrange for the procurement and assembly of the necessary supplies, and create the emergency organization required for this purpose.
- To formulate and recommend measures for individual or joint action by member governments for the coordination of purchasing, the use of ships, and other procurement activities in the period following cessation of hostilities, with a view to integrating the activities of the Administration with the total movement of supplies and for the purpose of achieving an equitable distribution of available supplies, and to administer such coordination measures as may be authorized by the member governments.
- To appoint Deputy Directors-General, officers, expert personnel, and staff, and to delegate to them such powers as are deemed appropriate; to supply such Secretariat and other staff and facilities as shall be required by the Council and its committees, including Regional Committees and Sub-Committees.
- To make periodic reports to the Central Committee and the Council covering the progress of the Administration's activities; to transmit periodic reports covering the activities of the Administration within each region to the Council, the Central Committee and the respective Regional Committees. - To submit to the Council an annual budget, and such supplementary budgets as may be required, covering the administrative expenses of the Administration; to submit quarterly reports of operating and Administration expenditures and receipts.

- To consult with member governments for the purpose of carrying out measures with respect to the repatriation or return of Displaced Persons.
- To determine the exact geographical areas in which the Administration will operate and the kind of operations it will undertake in each case, after consultation with and with the consent of the appropriate governing authority.
- To preside at the opening of Council sessions until a Chairman has been elected; in consultation with the Central Committee, and subject to the concurrence of the Council, to fix the time and place of meetings and prepare the provisional agendas of the Central Committee, the Council, and the Standing Committees.
- To arrange, through the appropriate national and inter-governmental agencies, for the necessary allocation and procurement of supplies in order to create balanced reserves.
- To arrange for the transfer of functions of UNRRA to the United Nations.

The Headquarters Office in Washington was the administrative center for the entire organization, where the major policies in all fields were formulated. It was also the center for the direct supervision of the offices and missions in the Far East, and for recruitment of personnel and procurement of supplies from the United States and Canada.
