

Helga is the one holding the baby. To her right--

Left to right in the picture.

OK, left to right. Here we go. The young man is Helga's deaf brother. Then the second oldest sister and Helga, her brother and the baby on Helga's lap.

And the order, Helga's the oldest.

Helga is the oldest. Next would be the sister, then the brother on the right. Then the deaf brother--

On the left.

On the left, far left. And then the baby on Helga's lap.

It's a baby girl.

Yes, a sister.

There's three girls and two boys.

And this is Helga's, this is again a nice one of Helga's deaf brother.

Excellent. OK. What else do we have? Who's who in this one?

Yeah. But of course the edge is still going to tilt.

Yeah, I know, but-- OK, so this is the sister and Helga?

Yes, this is Helga is on the right holding the baby doll, and her sister--

Whose name is? What's her sister's name?

Ursula.

Ursula.

Ursula. It's her sister, Ursula.

OK. We got that.

There's no way you can adjust it vice versa.

Helga is next to her mother. Ursula is to the right. The youngest sister is between the two girls. Then the deaf brother is in the front and the oldest brother is next to the mother to the left of her.

So on the extreme left is the oldest brother, second from the left is the deaf brother, then the mother, then Helga, then two of her sisters,

Elizabeth is the baby, and then Ursula.

Let's see also when you're done this series. Is there a three shot of [INAUDIBLE]

This next shot is Helga on the right and her deaf brother on the left and their mother in the middle. It was the only shot we have the two of them together. This is kind of nice.

Helga is in the red.

Is where? In the red in the middle.

And to her left is her next sister.

You can't do it, just go left to right.

OK, let's go from left to right. Elizabeth is the youngest. Then is the deaf brother. Then the wife of the guy in the middle, who is Helga's oldest brother. Then Helga in the red. The gentleman in the red next to Helga is the husband of Ursula.

In the white shirt on right.

OK, this is Helga with her deaf brother.
